

TUESDAY EVENING, JUNE 22, 1847.

FOR PRESIDENT, IN 1848,
MAJOR GENERAL
ZACHARY TAYLOR.
OF LOUISIANA,
THE HERO
PALO ALTO, RESACA DE LA PALMA,
MONTEREY,
And Buena Vista.
Subject to the decision of the Whig National Convention.

WHIG NOMINATION
FOR GOVERNOR OF MARYLAND,
WILLIAM T. GOLDSBOROUGH,
OF DORCHESTER COUNTY.

DEPARTURE OF PRESIDENT POLK.

The President and his suite left our city to-day for the North. The northern Democratic papers are very urgent in their appeals to the Whigs to receive him kindly, and to lay aside all party feelings on the occasion. We hope their appeals will be heard; but, at the same time, we trust the Whigs will frown down all attempts on the part of the Democrats to make his reception a Democratic-party affair, by appropriating the honor paid to the Presidential office, as extorted from the Whigs, by the presence of the incumbent.

But the Democratic press avows, in advance, that this northern tour of Mr. Polk is not a political tour. This is not true. It is a political expedition. It was conceived with the design of propitiating the Wilnot Proviso Democrats of the North. Mr. Gillet went so far as to insist upon the President's leaving his negro body servant behind him, and the President yielded. He will no doubt be paraded in the North as the enemy of slavery; and the absence of the southern gentleman's usual colored attendants will be pointed to as proof of the fact. But be this as it may, the grand point to be carried by the President's visit is, to be brought in contact with the northern Democracy as a Wilnot Proviso man; for Mr. Polk has by no means abandoned his idea of a re-election. The more impracticable such an event to other people's eyes is, the more practicable does it appear to Mr. Polk. The desperation of Mr. Tyler, in quest of a second term, is quietude, in comparison with that which Mr. Polk feels and exhibits. We hope, therefore, that the Whig press of the North will have its eyes upon the movements of Mr. Polk and his friends. Let them not be deceived by the cunning of these men, but expose, with a bold hand, their corrupt design.

THE GOING OFF.

At twelve o'clock precisely the President entered the royal car prepared for the occasion. He was accompanied by his suit which consisted of—

Mr. Clifford,
Mr. Burke,
Mr. Gillet,
Mr. Medill,
Mr. Wells,
Mr. Knox Walker,
Mr. Appleton, &c. &c.

There was no crowd, no shouting, no up-rising of the people. The honest pavers did not even cease mauling the stones in the street to look at the royal departure. The sun withdrew behind a cloud at the moment, but what for it is hard to say.

Among the persons who stood and saw the cars go on their winding way, were—

Mr. Buchanan,
Mr. Walker and lady,
Mr. Marcy,
The Rev. Chaplain of the Senate
[Looking remarkably well.]
Mr. Mason and lady,
Mr. Johnson with a lady on each
arm [no sign in his mouth this time.]
Mr. Brewster, one of the Indian Commissioners.
Mr. A. Thomas Smith, Ex. Clk
[of the Navy Department.
Mr. Humes, Clerk Post Office.
The Union Man with the claret
[coat and white hat.
The elder and younger Mr. Sullivan.
Captain Goddard of the Police [Guard.
Several tall Gentlemen with long [hair.
And about 20 promiscuous per[sonages.

The cars had no sooner disappeared beyond the old Brick House, than the sun made his appearance again, and Washington breathes freer, and easier, and deeper.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 21, 1847.

In an editorial article of the National Whig for to-day, it is stated that "Major Bliss, and a young lieutenant, looked anxiously about for the escort" that was to accompany Gen. Taylor from Fort King to Tampa.

The truth and the fact is, Major Bliss was at no time in Florida with General Taylor; but, at the very time above alluded to, he was a Professor of Mathematics at West Point. The article is true, as regards Gen. Taylor's perfect fearlessness and disregard of danger; for he was in the habit of going ahead of his staff and escort through very perilous places.

Another statement in some of the papers, to the effect that, in the desperate fight at Okechopee, on the 25th December, 1837, "Colonel Taylor remained on horseback, encouraging his men," &c., is not true; for Colonel Taylor was waist-deep with his men, in a swamp, and within fifteen paces of the hottest of the fight.

Yours,

To the Whigs of Montgomery.—Be united. Suffer not the ambition of aspirants to distract your ranks. If any Whigs are so forgetful of their duty to their country and their party, as to set up for the Legislature, independently of the action of the whole party, vote not for them. Let opponents sustain them. But select your best men for the county ticket, and give it and the Dorset Farmer your whole voice, and the applause of the whole Union will be shouted in your ears in October next.

Mechanics.—Of all things, says the Athens (Alab.) Patriot, I do dislike to hear mechanics complaining that they are not respected, "because they are mechanics." It is no such thing; never was there more truth uttered than this: "Honor and shame from no condition rise, 'Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

and the mechanic who complains that proper respect is not paid him, because he is a mechanic, either deserves not the respect of respectable men, or does not receive, because he will not demand it. The great secret—the true reason of a mechanic's position, is this—they think, act, and speak as though their avocations were not honorable, were degrading; they eternally fawn around and cringe to those who, sometimes by fortune, but more often by a system of outright swindling, have come into the possession of gold; their conduct towards the would-be aristocracy of villages, cities and neighborhoods, is that of a degraded inferior, instead of one who is equal and more often superior to them. Mechanics, if you are degraded—if you do not take your proper position in the ranks of society—the fault lies at your own door. There is nothing in your occupations to degrade you; from the hair-dresser to the disciple of Faust, you are useful members of society. Then complain not, but be proud of your position.

Major Bradford, the 'Mexican Whig' who stood shoulder to shoulder by the side of Jefferson Davis at the storming of Monterey is a candidate for Congress in Mississippi against Mr. Censure Jake Thompson. Thompson's fate is sealed.

Twenty-one murders were committed in the State of Ohio last year.

General Taylor on one occasion asked a 6 foot Granite State boy 18 years of age why he came to the wars. "Cause daddy licked me!"—was the pithy reply.

On the 18th of May a free trade meeting was held in Manchester, England, and the operatives who were promised cheap bread when the corn laws were repealed, voted down the free traders fifty to one, after arguing the question with consummate ability.

The Emperor has established an Academy of Sciences in Vienna to consist of 48 members.

Whitney's silly Oregon Railroad project has been knocked on the head by the Marine Legislature.

The people of Vermont are denouncing in public assemblies the post office law of last session which has been interpreted and construed by Cave Johnson with a view to prevent the dissemination of intelligence.

The Polk men and presses of New Hampshire are excusing the proposed plan of the Administration to rob the churches of Mexico by essaying to prove that it would advance Christianity and civilization.

Governor Page, of the Granite State, says that you might as well try to stop the North wind blowing with a handkerchief as to attempt to prevent the election of General Taylor to be next President, and Governor Page is a Polk man.

There were at last dates 13,000 emigrants detained in quarantine below Quebec.

Mr. CENSURE Cottrell, an anti-Taylor Democrat, has been ruled off the course in the 3d District of Alabama for Congress, and Sampson W. Harris, Dem. put in his place. "Over they go, over they go!"

Popular judicial elections are not so bad after all. Judge Williams, of Iowa, elected especially for taking side against the title to the Half Breed tract in Lee county, has confirmed the title now that he is on the bench.

The New York Courier and Enquirer is out against Rough and Ready Clubs. For our part we see no necessity for them, but the people have a right to do just as they please in the premises. Old Zach will be President, come what may.

The Brazilian minister it is said, is packing up, and will soon be off. Now, Mr. Polk, order Com. Rousseau to batter down the Emperor's palace about his ears.

The Tenth Legion.—There is but one Whig newspaper in this benighted region of Virginia, the Harrisonburg Republican. That stern and faithful journal, in its number of the 19th instant, appeals to the Whigs of that Congressional district to come up to its support with one voice. If our opinion has any weight with our brethren in that section of the Old Dominion, we cheerfully give it in favor of the Republican. It is the duty of every Tenth Legion Whig to take it, and hand it to his Democratic neighbor to read. His Democratic neighbor only needs light to loosen the scales from his eyes. Make then the Republican your weekly visitor. Pay the Editor liberally for his labors, and enable him to give you a journal filled with intelligence and sound Whig argument, and you will, by thus all pulling together, be able to make the Tenth Legion a legion of Whig light, in less than a year's time. We repeat, let every Whig voter in this district subscribe and pay for the Republican without delay. It is your duty to do so. Band together, and let the Republican speak your voice, and old Rough and Ready will receive nine-tenths of the votes of the Tenth Legion, as sure as you live; even though he had not the pleasure of the presence of many of her Democratic voters in the field.

The two Finkles who tried to kill Cowles at Hudson, N. Y., were convicted on the 18th inst. of assault with intent to kill. They tried to escape when taken from court to prison. They say that they will be rescued, if the town has to be burned. The whole affair is an anti-rent outbreak.

Fifteen miles of log boats were coming thro' the Erie Canal at last advices.

Mix two ounces of sulphate ether with two drachms each of pulverized camphor and alum, and wet a piece of cotton with it, and put it in an aching tooth, and the pain will cease instantly.

The Mexicans did stone Old Santa on the 17th of May. Their outcry against him, was, that he was a Polk traitor.

On the 5th instant, there were twenty deaths in Vera Cruz from Yellow Jack.—It was epidemic and steady on the increase. We look for a fearful mortality.

News has been received that four Mexican felons are cruising in the Mediterranean against our commerce and carry their prizes to a river south of Mogadore in Barbary.

The debts of the States taken together amount now to 225 millions. The Mexican war debt at present is not less than 150 millions and before the People's President for 1849 can get hold of the helm of State, Mr. Polk threatens to run it up to 500 millions. Verily, we are in a fair way to rival the debt-ridden nation of Old England, and all thro' the acts of the Democratic party which professes so loudly an abhorrence of debt.

Dr. Gwinin late M. C., and Mr. Walker's fidus Achates has been made Commissioner to superintend the building of the new Custom House at New Orleans, at $8 a day, and $3 a day for clerk hire.

NEVER GIVE UP. No matter how dark your prospects may be—remember "there is a silver lining to every cloud." Poor young man!—aspirant for fame—despair not—though the world may pass you unheeded now—though you may see others less worthy, moving above you, because adorned by the "rags of this world's riches." Though the rich may deride—the fool may sneer—the proud contemn—yet struggle on. Remember, it is always more honorable and pleasing to rise by one's own merits, than to play second fiddle to another's greatness. You are compelled to toil in the work shop from morning to night—no matter—the great men of our age, of our country—of all ages, of all countries—hail not from the ranks of the purse-prond aristocracy—hail not from the high schools and colleges—but from what men are pleased to term the "humble class"—(because the poorer)—from the plough-handle—from the work shop. Then, be of good cheer, Push on, keep moving.

The intelligent Washington correspondent of the New York Commercial Advertiser has the following respecting General Taylor and the Presidency:

It seems now to be pretty much conceded that all events must yield, so far as human agency is concerned, to the torrent of his popularity.

We commend this to the gentlemen about town who do not believe in the Taylor fever.

There is a scoundrel of a postmaster by the name of Timbertake at Barhamsville, New Kent county, Va., whom we hope Mr. Johnson, if he has any respect for himself, will banish from office without ceremony. The fellow has been exposed by the Richmond Southerner for refusing to deliver that paper to its subscribers. There are more Timbertakers in the county besides this one.

The people of Murfreesboro' Tenn. on the 7th instant sent up a shout for Old Zach declaring that they will have nobody else for President.

Prentiss says that old Santa was hopping mad when he read Scott's proclamation.

The Union county, Ky., boys have nominated Old Zach with a perfect furor.

Gen. Pillow, though he blundered in digging a ditch at Camargo and in the Cerro Gordo charge, is not guilty of the blunder of mistaking General Taylor for a Polk man. In his trip to Columbia, Tenn., some days ago, he openly declared the old Hero to be a Whig, and that he knew it.

The N. O. National says that the war was begun without reflection. He will find before he is much older that it was begun with reflection, deep, damnable reflection, that Mr. Polk has done every thing he has done from reflection.

The steam flouring mill of Potter and Kelsey at Algiers, La., was burnt on the 13th inst. Loss 50,000 bushels of corn and otherwise heavy.

The shrinkage on Indian corn shipped over the seas is equal to 6 per cent of its weight.

Col. Gates, master of Tampico, has ordered importers to pay one per cent. additional duty on all goods left in the public stores more than three days, though Mr. Polk's tariff gives no such right. Like master, like man.

The London and Blackwall railway cost only one million of dollars per mile. It is upon arches, and its site was once occupied by dwellings.

They predict an immense run for the new work of Polk and his Generals among the latter of whom are Old Santa and Gid Pillow.
